T-Races are Returning to Harris!

May 15th will be the fourth annual Harris T-Race to choose our grade level math facts champions.

So first graders to third graders will be practicing and getting ready to choose classroom champions on the following skills:

- First grade - addition facts to ten
- Second grade - addition and subtraction facts
- Third Grade - addition, subtraction and multiplication facts

Feel free to practice however you would like. Classroom winners will receive a special t-shirt to wear to the competition. We will hold our T-Race convocation on May 15th at which time the classroom winners will compete against other winners from their grade, writing the answers to basic math facts on a "T-form" which is the source of the name. The t-forms will be on chart paper attached to easels for all to see. To win you have to be fast, but you also must be accurate. Grade level winners will receive a medal to show their success.

Character Quality: Orderliness

Orderliness is the trait we will focus on during May.

It is important to know about the five "I Will" statements in order to more completely understand the character quality of orderliness. They are:

- I will pick up after myself.
- I will keep my work and play areas clean and neat.

- I will put things back where they belong.
- I will use things only for their intended purposes.
- I will return lost things to their rightful owners.
