

Dear Friend,

It feels as though it was only yesterday that my husband Ken and I chaired a bowling fundraising event, benefitting the Hancock County Community Foundation's (HCCF) early childhood literacy initiative, Imagination Library. The event took place in April of 2016 and raised $10,000.

A committee of passionate believers of this worthy cause will join me in hosting another bowling fundraiser in loving memory of Ken, who lost his battle with cancer this past March. He was, and I am, very passionate about the Imagination Library program and the impact it will have on generations to come. We were so very impressed with your love and support for this shared vision in 2016 and would love for you to bowl in support of this early childhood literacy program once again. The scotch doubles bowling fundraiser will be at Strike Force Lanes on April 8, 2018 at 2pm.

In both 2015 and 2016, 40% of Hancock County kindergarten enrollees scored below or well below literacy readiness standards. The Imagination Library program not only provides families with easy access to quality reading materials, it sets the stage for the future of our county. Literacy plays a dramatic role in strengthening parent/child relationships, readiness to learn, and economic vitality.

Imagination Library books are delivered monthly to enrolled children until their fifth birthday; making books readily accessible to families as they begin the important journey of preparing their children for the first day of kindergarten and beyond. Enrollment is FREE and open for Hancock County children born on or after January 1, 2016. As of October 31, 603 babies from all corners of the county are now enrolled.

The ability to provide this free program to families is made possible through the community's generous support. To ensure sustainability, HCCF is growing an endowment fund that will generate perpetual funding. I ask you to join me in their effort by sponsoring the event and/or registering a team.

The enclosed form provides all the information you need to make a commitment to the children of Hancock County.
